WEAR THE RING AND CARRY ITS MEANING

AUBURN
RING TRADITION

At the end of the Fall and Spring semesters, students who have completed over 75 hours have the opportunity to be a part of a long-standing tradition that is unique to Auburn. At Ring Night, the rings are left on the Auburn seal from 1856, or 6:56 PM, until the current graduation year. This symbolizes the rings absorbing all of Auburn's history from founding to present. This also means that the rings are placed under the curse of the seal.

A few days later at the Ring Ceremony, the student dips their ring in water from the President's fountain which removes the curse, but leaves the Auburn spirit behind to live on in the ring and in the heart of its owner forevermore. Ring recipients conclude the traditional ceremony by placing the cleansed ring on their finger with the words "Auburn University" facing inward. After graduation, the new alumni turn the ring to show the world that they are a proud official member of the Auburn family.

THE OFFICIAL RING REPRESENTS A LIFELONG LINK WITH ALUMNI AND FELLOW CLASSMATES.

"War Eagle," the battle cry uniting all associated with Auburn, will be engraved on the inside of each band. The recipient's initials, degree and graduation year can also be engraved to the right of "War Eagle."
